There's only one story in the saga of Sen. Larry Craig that involves actual dick-sucking, and it happens to be set in Union Station.
The tale involves an anonymous 40-year-old ex-Republican. Since August of 2004, this man has claimed—in digitally altered audio, of course—to have had a very frustrating few minutes with the with Craig. In both instances, the trysts were interrupted when the stalls started filling up.

But still. Just about every news organization from MSNBC to the Washington Post has picked up the story. They generally hide behind an attribution to a suddenly famous blogger, Mike Rogers, who has reported extensively on these aborted
