Morning Mr. Nadler

The DCMR Title 31 Taxicab regulations allows the following:

801.5 Except for declared snow emergency fares provided for in § 804, the regular metered fare listed in § 801.3, not including extra charges and surcharges listed in § 801.6, shall not exceed $19.00 for trips originating and ending and with all stops en route in the District of Columbia.

In short you should be able to make the trip you described to me without the meter being restarted regardless of the direction of travel

Subject: Taxi rule query

To: Leon Swain, Chair
From: Jerrold Nadler

Query: If a passenger gets into a cab, and goes to one destination to drop off a piece of luggage or for some other brief purpose, and then proceeds to a second destination, should the driver charge one fare (including waiting time), or can he insist on the passenger paying two separate fares? And does it make a difference if the two destinations are in different directions?

Please reply to Jerrold Nadler at [REDACTED]

Thank you.
